A young girl aged about 19, named Amelia Ramster, was brought before the London Police on a charge of disturbing the neighbourhood, by crying and moaning over her father's grave. For this outbreaking of filial affection in the too sensitive heart of one who had deeper cause perhaps to mourn over her loss than struck the eye of the cold, unfeeling world, she was arraigned as a criminal and severely censured by the magistrate. If such be a sample of English magistrates, which we do not believe, their souls must be made of flint, and their minds, however illuminated with legal knowledge, but ill adapted to dispense even-handed justice which like mercy, should

"Descend as the gentle dew from heaven."

Mr Buckingham, the celebrated temperance reformer in the House of Commons, has humanely proposed the establishment of literary institutions and public gardens for the instruction and recreation of the poor, as a wholesome remedy to divert their minds from the gross and brutalizing habits which their destitute situation and idleness are too apt to engender.

A vignette in Bell's Life in London, represents the "March of Intellect" 300 years hence:—a dandy and dandizette, both half-less and miserably emaciated—viewing through their quizzing glasses with horror—a picture of a pugilistic fight. The verses run thus:—

How spruce your form, how strange your dress!

Or man you surely seem the shade;

And tho' the mind must still progress,

The outward must retrograde.

Ye exquisites of future ages,

Why are your hearts with terror thrilling?

Why look around you in amaze,

And shudder at the thought of melting?

Fellow! what horrid picture's that?

At sight of which I'm nearly fainting;

Do tell me what the brutes are at—

Who are the monsters in the painted?"

Sir, this here picture wot you see,

Has been adm'd by great and small;

From injury and blushing ire,

A warranted Original."

The characters without a fib,

Flourish'd about three centuries back;

And one of them wot Tom Cribb,

The other, Molly actu, the black!"

Following curious circumstance shews the influence of the mind over the body, especially in advanced life, when the connection subsisting between them is so sustained by a feeble mind and soon to be severed:

"Mrs John Eull, an old lady of 76, died very suddenly at St Peter's-hill, Stamford, on Saturday the 4th inst.—Her sister was reading aloud from a newspaper the account of a sudden death, when the deceased remarked—"That will be my case sometime;" the words had scarcely been uttered ere she fell from her chair, and in less than five minutes was a corpse."

The inhuman custom of the "Suttee," or burning of women after the death of their husbands, still continues in India, but not, as it would seem, as formerly, by voluntary self immolation. After the death of the late Rajah of Guzerat, his wives, domestics, &c. were doomed to the pile, where they were dragged and burned amidst their agonizing shrieks, in face of a large collection of British troops, who were deterred from interfering by the immense array of native troops assembled to carry the savage rite into execution.

Lord Brougham is determined to make no provision for the accommodation of ladies in the House of Lords. His lordship perhaps thinks after the specimen of Queen Adelaide, who intruded him out of the Great Seal, that petticoats and politics form a dangerous combination.—Being also any thing but an "Adonis" himself, he does not wish, we presume, to submit his ill-favored "mug" to the keen gaze of female beauty.

More plain than pleasant.—A lady playing on the piano-forte, on being called on for a dead march, asked Mr II. a celebrated professor of music, what dead march she should play; to which he replied, "Any march that you will play will be a dead one, for you are sure to murder it."

Gale versus Steam.—A Mrs Gale, who was run down in a small boat coming out of the docks at London, by a steamer going at the rate of 7 or 8 miles an hour, recovered of the proprietor of the latter £100 damages.

A young woman lately died in a Paris hospital from what was supposed to be an inexplicable cause, but when her body was opened no less than 617 cherry-stones were found accumulated in her intestines, in which they were confined by a cancerous contraction.

A fellow named Pike, who probably belonged, however, to the Shark family, was committed to prison for stealing two salmon out of Billingsgate.

Don Miguel is living quite retired at Rome, rather pinched for funds—not having yet received his stipulated salary.

The fare of some of the North country steamers is so reduced, that it does not exceed one farthing a mile! It is not so in America.

STOCK AND STAND.—For sale, on reasonable terms the stock of a Crocker and Glass warehouse, centrally situated, in a snug store, at low rent—the stock is new, having been imported within a few months—credit will be given on a part or the whole, it's shrewd— inquire at this office.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1835.

State Election.—The prospect of the success of the Democratic Party at the next State Election in Massachusetts is of the most cheering and promising character. The lack of unity of sentiment among the Whigs as to the most suitable individual for their candidate for the office of Governor, in addition to the general and just popularity of Judge Morton among all classes, are causes which render our prospect of success most animating.

As all our readers may not be acquainted with the exact cause of dispute, we copy the following from the Ohio Monitor:—

"A portion of territory is claimed both by the State of Ohio and the provisional government of Michigan.—It is of some importance to both parties. We are as sanguine of the right of Ohio to the land, as those who have urged her to arms and violent possession. Still, it should be considered that Michigan in the possession, and that her line was established as she claims it, by an act of Congress organizing her territory.—This establishes a plausible reason for those people holding the possession; and it appears surprising to us that a grave Legislature of Ohio should, in defiance of this, have undertaken, as they did by their acts of last session, and subsequent acts of the extra session, to take violent possession of this disputed territory."

The Comet arrived.—Professor Olmsted, and Mr Loomis, of Yale College, have published a Card in the New Haven Herald, in which they state that they were blessed on the 31st ult. with a view of this interesting body. They describe its location thus:—

"Its present position is north of the Bull's Horns, a little below the vertex of an equilateral triangle, formed with those two stars. It is nearly in a line between the planet Jupiter and the Pleiades or seven stars, and nearer to the former.—Or, more particularly, at two o'clock this morning, its right ascension was 5h 51m, and its declination N. 24 deg., being about a degree less than that derived from the elements of Ptolemaic, which are given in the Connaissance des Temps for 1833."

Latest from the Moon.—The Luna-ville Typograph of Sept. 1st, instant, says—the inhabitants of this metropolis experienced day before yesterday a violent shock of earthquake, supposed by some to have been occasioned by the explosion of a saltpetre mine, as a yellow mist was observed in the atmosphere about that time.

Others, however, think the cause to be the violent and sudden abstraction of air from this region by Morse's patent perpetual air-cylinder. While others, who esteem themselves the savants of the age, assure us that it must have proceeded from the contact with our orbit of a tubulated non-descript, which has for some time been observed in the direction of the planet Earth, towards its southern limb.

The same paper mentions the death of two lunatics by the accidental administration of lunar-caustic instead of terra-merita. Also, the taking of eight or ten loons, supposed to have wandered from the earth in bal-loons in search of knowledge or curiosities, it may be, of certain defunct moon-calves, which have ridiculous-ly been taken by some terrestrial witlings for blue goats.

A large number of ladies and gentlemen visited the Picture at the Artist's Gallery yesterday, representing the unfurling of the American Flag, and expressed themselves much gratified.

Speculation is going on as boldly as ever at Bangor—good land is regularly advancing in value, and must continue to advance the lumbermen say, until the present prices are nearly doubled, panic or no panic.

The Editor of the U. S. Gazette, in speaking of Mrs Hale's American Ladies Magazine says, "It possesses large claims to general approval and patronage."

A bit of a row was started the other day at Pittsburg, Va. but it was soon checked by the Mayor of that city.

A very large anti-abolition meeting was held in Wiscasset, (Me.) on the 29th ult., at which a spirited preamble and resolutions were adopted.

The Whigs have elected as one of their County Committee, Mr George Jackson, one of the signers of the Circular lately issued by the abolitionists here.

The United States Bank.—The enlargement of the loans of this institution ceased in July. In the month of June the enlargement amounted, as we have before stated, to over a million and a half of dollars, and the total enlargement from the time when the expansion began, in November, to the time when it ceased, was twenty millions of dollars. All this, notwithstanding it was rung through the nation by the presses and orators who defended the Bank during the panic, and by the official declarations of the Bank itself, a regular caution must be maintained to the end of its Charter. We stated, months ago, that we considered the extent of expansion to which the Bank had then gone, as under the circumstances impolitic. We can not refrain from saying that we consider this policy, pursued as it has been, as having put at hazard all the interests of trade throughout the country. Such a flooding of the money market was never before known; and as is the action, so is the danger of re-action.—There is nothing the matter with our pecuniary affairs, but what originates in the Bank; there is no prospect of any evil before us but from the Bank; and we are free to say nothing has been the matter within the three last years, but what has had its origin with the Bank. What, then, has been the effect of this mighty machine, which was created to regulate and give stability to our currency? It has been, and it threatens to be, little else than a central power of agitation, producing the most violent and fatal extremes.—N. Y. Gaz.

Turkies working for a living.—A shrewd man will turn every thing to some good account. Here is a case, for instance. A farmer in this town had a fine field of rata bags, which was overrun with grasshoppers, eating off the leaves and threatening the entire destruction of the crop. So he procured a drove of turkeys and turned them into the lot and they soon made mincemeat of the grasshoppers. The rata bags are saved and the turkeys in "good case" for any man's Thanksgiving dinner.—Northampton Courier.

Logic.—Yesterday morning at our police office, a barbers named Fisher who keeps a store in Broadway, attempted to convince the magistrate, that he was entitled to his discharge on the ground that for the last two years he had shaven his honor. The latter he threw into his discourse however would not answer the purpose. He was dealt with the keenness of a razor, and compelled to pay a fine for his barberous actions.

From the New York Evangelist.

N. Y. Herald.

* * Specific prices were offered, and paid for votes.

* * Where actual purchases could not be effected, attempts, sometimes successful, were made to keep voters from the polls, either by threats or promises, and, in some instances, by the actual tender of money. * * Knowing that to gain a victory they must increase their numbers, they even recalled persons from New York, settled them in business, the eldest sons of freemen; and, in the city of Providence alone, brought out about two HUNDRED persons qualified specially to vote on the occasion; and, more than ONE HUNDRED of whom, was created to regulate and give stability to our currency?

It has been, and it threatens to be, little else than a central power of agitation, producing the most violent and fatal extremes.—N. Y. Com.

Traveling in Balloons.—The Prussian State Gazette of May 18, informs, that Dr Wienhoif of Brunswick has succeeded, by a simple contrivance which he has invented, in placing the movement, direction, and stopping of air carriages entirely within his power.

The Gazette says, though the experiments tried by the inventor, are made but on a small scale, yet the principles upon which they are founded are so evident, and the contrivances so simple, that their practicability on a larger scale, and in the actual application, can no longer be doubted. The inventor, it is said, means to make his discovery as public as possible, that it may be a common good, and that he will shortly publish a book, in which his plan is developed.—Spy.

Letters received in this city from Malta announce the death of Major F. W. Armstrong, late of Nashville, Tenn., and principal Agent for the Choctaw Indians. He died at the Choctaw Agency, (near Fort Coffee) on the 6th ult., after an illness of several days.

Eulogy on Judge Marshall.—The address of Joseph Story on the life and professional character of the late JOHN MARSHALL, will be delivered at the ODEON, on Thursday, the 15th of October next, at 12 o'clock, M.

From Rio Janeiro.—Messrs Topliff have loaned us the Jornal do Commercio of the 17th and 22d July.—The Legislative Assembly was occupied with projects to amend the currency, and stop the circulation of spurious copper coins—a Herculean task, will cost the nation an enormous sum to accomplish. From the return of Mr Charles Wright, last maker, and Mr Charles Geyer, mustard manufacturer.—Transcript.

The aggregate amount of damage to the building, property, &c. is about $10,000.

Capt. Randolph, of the U. S. revenue cutter Washington, died at Key West on the morning of the 26th ult. from fever, having been sick but 6 or 8 days.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.

Transferring Seamen's Protections.—For several years past, the sale of American Protections, to foreign sailors, has been extensively practised by shipping masters, and boarding house-keepers, notwithstanding that the offence is made felony by the act of Congress of March, 1813. They are usually sold for a dollar a-piece, for which sum they are considered as good as Spanish dollars, and are equally as current, being given and taken contingently as equivalent to one, in many cases where a bank bill would be objected to. This violation of law has risen to such a height, that it has been deemed necessary to make a salutary example of some of the offenders; and for this purpose, four individuals were held to answer before His Honor, Judge DAVIS, yesterday.

1.—Antonio Crisp, boarding house keeper, upon the complaint of David Henshaw, Collector of the Port of Boston, &c., was charged with having, on the 1st of September, sold and disposed of a certificate of citizenship, to a person by the name of Joseph Bussell, and the said Bussell being a person other than the one for whom the certificate was originally issued, and to whom it right belonged. Mr Crisp's counsel obtained a postponement till Tuesday next, Crisp giving bonds in $500, for his appearance; Bussell, a foreigner, was ordered to give bonds in $400, to appear as a witness against Crisp, and, for want of bail, committed to jail.

2.—William Parker, shipping-master, was held to answer to two complaints, similar to the above, viz: selling the certificate of citizenship (alias "protection,") of Rinier Janes, to one Antonio Duran, a foreigner; and also selling the certificate of Charles F. Mayo, to John Farantia, foreigner. Further examination postponed till Tuesday, under bonds of $500.

3.—Antonio Duran, was held to answer for passing the said certificate of "Rinier Janes," as his own, to Capt. Wm. Tisdale, of brig Lavinia. Committed for trial in October.

4.—John Farantia was also held to answer for passing "Charles F. Mayo's" certificate as his own, to Capt. Tisdale. Also committed for trial in October.

N. B.—We append an extract from the act of Congress, upon which these prosecutions are based:—

[St. March 3, 1813.]—See, 13.—If any person shall falsely make, forge, or counterfeit, or cause, or procure to be falsely made, forged, or counterfeited, any certificate or evidence of citizenship referred to in this act; or shall pass, utter, or use, as true, any false, forged, or counterfeited certificate, or shall make, sell, or dispose of any certificate of citizenship to any person other than the person for whom it was originally issued, and to whom it may be right belong, every such person shall be deemed and adjudged guilty of felony.] Punishment from three to five years imprisonment at hard labor, or a fine from $500 to $1000.]

Change of habits.—Some evil minded person broke into our sanctum on Saturday night, and stole therefrom a new pair of boots, made by J. Ward, with the master's and owner's name written in them, a black leather coat, and a short black summer coat, with sundry roundabouts. The coats were old friends—we part from them with regret, and hope the new boots will pinch the rascal's toes. The rogues did not search for money; they knew that each of our craft can say, "argumentum ex auctoritate non est milii"; and so he took most of that of which we had the most, namely, old clothes and old papers; for he had the indecency to take an unbound file of our Gazettes, and leave two bound quartos of Noah Webster's dictionary—a rogue of taste.—U. S. Gaz.

Metamorphas.—A passenger at New Orleans from Metamora informs, that the country was in a state of perfect tranquillity. No apprehensions were entertained that the Mexican Government would send troops into Texas, as they appear to have abandoned all intention of doing so. The only thing of any importance there, was an order from the Mexican Censor, to the editor of the Mercurio, an American, directing him to leave the state at the expiration of a few days from the date of the decree. This is the second editor who has received orders to quit the REPUBLIC.—N. Y. Gaz.

Williams' College Commencement.—The annual commencement of Williams' College was held on Wednesday the 19th of August. On the evening preceding, an oration was delivered before the Adelphi Union Society, by George Bancroft, the historian. While some of the auditors could not assent to all the sentiments it contained, all agreed in pronouncing it a splendid performance.* The exercises on commencement day were thought to be quite as interesting as usual, although a number of the most promising speakers, we were told, were absent on account of ill health. Sobriety and seriousness of thought marked all the performances, as was to be expected in an institution where about three-fifths of the students are professedly pious, and are looking forward to the ministry. The degree of A. B. was conferred in course upon Samuel A. Allen, Orman Archer, Thornton W. Clapp, Elias V. B. Concklin, Lucius Q. Curtis, Henry G. Darling, James H. Ellis, Henry Gallup, Jesse O. Norton, Abraham B. Olive, James N. Platt, George Sheldon, Ozni Underwood, Samuel C. Wilcox, Worcester Willey, Charles A. Williams, and Thomas Wright.

The honorary degree of A. M. was conferred on Rev. Chauncey Eddy, and Horatio Byington, Esq., of Stockbridge, and that of D. D. on Rev. Richard S. Storrs, of Braintree, Mass. After the conferring of degrees, an oration was delivered before the Alumni, by Mr Dillingham, of Westchester, Pa. Request was made for its publication by the Alumni, which we understand is to be complied with. The concio ad clericum was preached in the evening in the college chapel, by Rev. M. Winslow. It was a stirring missionary sermon, and will have a tendency to increase the number of the band of young men for the college, who have already, with one of the officers of college at their head, devoted themselves to the foreign field, and entered on a course of preparation, moral, mental and physical, peculiarly adapted to the work.

Some changes have been made in the course of study and exercises of the students, calculated to throw them more on their own resources, and thus favor the formation of habits of original thought. Additional provision has also been made for instruction, by the establishment of a new professorship of the Latin language, and the election of Rev. Joseph Alden to the office. The philosophical and chemical apparatus has recently been placed on a most respectable footing, and means taken to increase the library. It will be seen that the advantages for intellectual improvement thus offered by this, are, to say the least, equal to those of similar institutions, while on the score of economy, retirement, &c. it has accommodations that few institutions in the older states possess. There is a prospect of a much larger increase of students this year, than at any former period.

* We have heard from the best judges the highest eulogies upon Mr Bancroft's oration. His familiarity with history and with ancient literature, his elevated tone of moral principle, his love of truth, his philosophical observation of the influence of moral causes upon the character and happiness of man, his deep study respecting the progress of society and the history of opinions rendered it an intellectual feast quite beyond the ordinary entertainments even of similar occasions, when Wirt, Everett, Verplanck, Cass, and Frelinghuysen, have been orators. We hope it will be published.—ED. EVAN.
